Pat,

We at central beef Ind. L.L.C. have completed the HACCP reassessment for the year 2005. The HACCP program that Central beef is using does comply with FSIS notice 44-02 issued on November 4 2002 (9CFR Part 417). We have a validated CCP in the program that will control Ecoli 0157H7, a lactic acid rinse. This along with the other controls in place at Central Beef effectively eliminate or reduce to an undetectable level the pathogen Ecoli 0157H7. We base our determination on scientific studies on file at Central Beef and historical data collected from sampling of finished product. We have more then two years history of sampling results on file. We use Silliker Lab and Food Safety Net as the testing facilities for all our samples. This is the information used to determine that our systems are working.
